

F-Secure Technical Product Training

F-Secure provides technical product training, material, and information for our distributors, resellers, and customers to success with F-Secure security products and services. With these tools and expertise, our partners are able to differentiate their business from their competitors with a unique and powerful solution for enterprise security, and obtain higher levels of customer satisfaction while increasing market share and profitability.

Training Program

The F-Secure training program is divided into basic and intermediate level courses. On the basic level we have available F-Secure Policy Manager course, which should be passed before moving on to the intermediate level (or have the corresponding knowledge). F-Secure Anti-Virus Client Security product is discussed on two separate courses. Usually it is recommended to attend both courses, but it is also possible to just attend the antivirus part. All F-Secure courses include a certification exam. All courses last one day.

How to Get Trained

F-Secure arranges technical product training worldwide. Training can also be obtained through F-Secure Certified Training Partners. Contact your local F-Secure office or FSecure Certified Training Partner to get more information about the courses and schedules.

F-Secure Training Partner Program

F-Secure Corporation is offering new business opportunities to our partners and F-Secure Training Partner Program is one of these opportunities.

F-Secure creates, maintains and provides the course material which includes course binders, CDs and exams. We also train the instructors. The Training Partner is responsible for conducting the courses and for the computer environment.

How to Become an F-Secure Certified Training Partner

F-Secure arranges Train-the-Trainer courses for the Training Partner candidates. The purpose of these courses is to enable the candidates to act as instructors and this way demonstrate their teaching skills. In-depth knowledge of the products will also be given.

If you are interested in the Training Partner Program please contact your local F-Secure office or Helsinki headquarters (<mailto:training@f-secure.com>).
