F-Secure Safe Anywhere

Your customers are always online - but are they always protected?

Wherever you go, the Internet follows. We check our email from the elevator, watch YouTube on the train and stay in touch with friends on the other side of the world while sitting on our sofas.

Unfortunately, many threats that can spoil surfing the web are no longer unique to desktop PCs. Nowadays, online criminals can invade mobile phones and Macs to hijack bank accounts, access personal information and even steal identities.

In a world reshaped by social networks and the ability to share anywhere, security that is limited to one device or computer leaves too many of us vulnerable.

Get ahead of new threats and profit

Your customers need to be protected wherever and whenever they connect. Here is your chance to offer them the complete security they need.
